Your money Your future Your union

Bargaining is too important to leave to others

Please join us all at Captain John's on Thursday at noon

Your Guild contract expires at the end of this year. Your union will soon begin the most important business it does on your behalf, which is negotiate the basic deal that governs how you work here, what you get paid and how you can retire.

We need your help to select the best bargaining committee possible to represent you. We need your engaged voice on the critical matters ahead. Do we need a new deal, or should we consider some kind of extension to our existing contract? This is the kind of decision ahead.

And we need a strong turnout Thursday to show the company that however tough these times may be for our industry, Star managers cannot roll our union over the way bosses have tried to do at other papers.

We're all in this together; let's come together as this bargaining journey begins. See you Thursday.

-- Stuart Laidlaw, unit chair, and your chief stewards: Dan Smith, editorial; Liz Marzari, advertising; Cathie Nichols, finance and administration; Steve Gjorkes, circulation; Les Veszlenyi, pre-publishing; Marcelo Pazan, creative
